T. E. MUELLER SILKS

Louisville Turfman's All White Colors in Double Victory.

Mayrose and Wida the Successful Standard Bearers—Old Cromwell Triumphs.

HAVANA, Cuba, March 6.—The all white colors of the Kentucky turfman, T. E. Mueller, were carried to victory in two races at Oriental Park this afternoon when Mayrose beat a band of platers in the second and Wida finished in front in the third. Both horses were ridden by Yerrat and both came from behind to win going away at the finish. In the third Little Smoke furnished keen contention in the stretch and Yerrat was forced to ride out Wida all through the final eighth. At the finish he had the advantage of three parts of a length.

Forewarn, after several disappointments, finally made good when he beat a band of platers the property of owners who had not won a race at this meeting. He was ridden by P. Groos and followed the pacemaker to the eighth post, where he moved up and at the finish shook off Polar Cub, to win going away by a couple of lengths. Whippoorwill outgamed Polar Cub when the final drive came and beat him by a neck for second money.

Mayrose furnished a surprise when she won in the second in rather easy fashion from Deertrail. She was outrun in the early stages and slipped through next to the inside rail entering the homestretch and at the finish was going away. Deertrail was second and McLane third. All three horses were outsiders in the betting.

The last three races were at a mile or farther and were all under claiming conditions.

FAVORITE LANK WINS.

In the fourth, T. Monahan's stable furnished the winner in Lank, which was a heavily supported favorite. He was ridden by Groos and sprinted into a long lead in the first quarter, but at the turn out of the back stretch Groos eased him up and kept looking back, with the result that his mount slowed down in the last fifty yards. Then Groos got a bit overanxious and shook up his mount some and Lank beat Dr. Shafer by a length and a quarter.

W. J. Daly saddled the second winner of the afternoon when the old campaigner Cromwell won the fifth. Groos had the mount and when the start came sent Cromwell to the front and he never relinquished the lead during the remainder of the contest. Cromwell saved ground all the way, but at the end had to be shaken up to stall off Acosta and Darnley.

E. McCuan sold to H. C. Palus the five-year-old filly Minnie Mack for a private consideration.

It was erroneously published that the Tri-State Stable, trained by S. J. Kelley, had disposed of the good sprinter Far East. The horse is still in the barn of trainer Kelley.

J. J. Russell sold East View to Robert Denton for the reported price of $3,200. The horse has been shipped to Porto Rico to be raced.

Lieut. Silvers of the Cuban army has selected the name Silver King for the yearling colt Show Queen, foaled by Solomon.

Jockey G. Williams was compelled to give up five riding engagements today on account of illness brought on by overreducing.

Jockey G. Wails, who received severe injuries when thrown in a race about two weeks ago, was able to leave the hospital today.

J. W. Pangle purchased of the Oneck Stable the three-year-old The Gaff.

RACING MEASURE READY

The Chicago Washington Park Club now needs but two members to complete the twenty-one that will comprise the board of directors of this organization, the three latest additions being Everett Brown of Chicago, Eugene Funk of Bloomington, Ill., and Asa Davenport of Washington, Ill.

Everett Brown is a well-known sportsman of Chicago, while both Mr. Funk and Mr. Davenport are not only bankers and prominent citizens of their respective communities but breeders of horses as well.

It is said that the remaining two vacancies on the board will be filled before the end of the week; in fact, it is expected that the acceptances of two other downstate men of prominence will be received in a day or so.

In the meantime everything is progressing satisfactorily in the campaign for the founder membership of the club, while it is said that the racing measure to be presented to the legislature is ready and will be introduced in the near future. The gentlemen who have prepared this bill are confident that it will meet the approval of all who earnestly desire to restore in Illinois the great sport of racing on a permanent and high-class plane.

American Turf's Harvest of Gold

Lavish as was the grand total of money distributed among the winning owners in North American racing in 1922 when the huge sum of $9,096,215 established a new record in this respect, there is a possibility that the ten million mark may be reached this year if the Canadian tracks are given relief from heavy government taxes and are able to hold their full quotas of meetings.

Certain it is the race tracks of New York, Kentucky and Maryland will contribute the greater portion of the huge sum to be distributed among the horsemen this year, as they have for many years past.

It is interesting to note that during the last twenty years the total distribution in turf prizes by the race tracks of New York has reached the tremendous sum of $26,318,367. During the same period Kentucky has contributed $12,996,535 and Maryland $9,826,741.

The great prosperity of the turf in Kentucky and Maryland is due mainly to the adoption of the pari-mutuels as the form of wagering permitted by law, the revenue derived from this means enabling the racing associations to hang up stakes and purses of such value that was impossible under the old method.

New York's most prosperous days were prior to 1908 before obnoxious laws, which came later, almost wiped out the sport in the metropolis. The records of the years from 1903 to 1907, when annually over $2,000,000 was distributed, have not been equaled anywhere. Last year was the closest approach to the old days, when $1,918,216 was distributed.

The following tabulation gives in detail the money distributed in each year, from 1903 to and including 1922, by the tracks of New York, Kentucky and Maryland, showing the various transitions from the golden days to the lean and then again to the present glorious and prosperous years:

J. K. L. ROSS' STRONG HAND

Montreal Turfman Has Five Formidable Candidates for the Valuable Coffroth Handicap.

TIJUANA RACETRACK, Mexico, March 6.—The victory of Rebuke at Tijuana recently in an owner's handicap, at a mile, would appear to indicate that Henry McDaniel will be ready to make a strong bid for the winner's end of the $30,000 Coffroth Handicap for Commander J. K. L. Ross of Montreal. This big stake will be run March 25. Rebuke trimmed Serapis, Ten Buttons, Sunnyland and John S. Reardon easily in this handicap, a dash of a mile and forty yards, on a slow track. The ease of this victory confirmed the form he had shown early in January when he whipped Halu and Black Betty in a race of one mile, which distance he covered in 1:40 and a fraction on a fast track. Rebuke is a much improved horse.

And the son of Dick Finnell and The Scold is only one of five horses entered in Commander Ross' name in the Coffroth. The others are Spanish Maize, Muttikins, Bastille and Feylance. Rebuke is in the Ross stable this winter as a result of a selling race tilt between McDaniel and Sam Louis at Laurel Park last fall. Louis, who plays no favorites in the selling race war—he had taken Rebuke from Thomas Monahan, president of the Cuba-American Jockey Club, after a selling race at Saratoga—went after a couple of the Ross platers in Maryland. McDaniel retaliated by taking Rebuke, which was running in both selling races and handicaps, and running well, too. He beat Fairway and Bunga Buck in one Laurel Park race and Captain Alcock, the winner of the Bowie and Pimlico Cups, in another. In Cuba last winter he won the $15,000 Derby under the Monahan silks and scored at Havre de Grace in April in a handicap. Rebuke appears to like a long distance and to be indifferent to track conditions. Possibly he is a little better in muddy going than in any other sort.

SPANISH MAIZE IN FORM.

Trainer McDaniel on Sunday succeeded in winning with the big, handsome, rangy Spanish Maize for the first time this meeting. Spanish Maize was, indeed, slightly lame after a race in January. However, the Hamilton Derby winner of last summer is coming on handsomely and the connections of the Ross stable are confident he will give a first-rate account of himself not only in the Coffroth Handicap but in the Tijuana Cup as well. Spanish Maize is a big striding long-distance runner, weighs all of 1,150 pounds now and is still growing. He is splendidly underpinned. His lameness of last month was due to the bruising of a foot.

IN A THRILLING FINISH

Neddam, Parader and Orcus Home Heads Apart.

Chiva Shows a Good Louisiana Derby Trial—Sandalwood Wins All the Way.

NEW ORLEANS, La., March 6.—Neddam, acquired recently by S. N. Holman, scored his second successive victory for his new owner when he beat the heavily backed Parader home by a short margin after running a game race. Orcus finished in third place. The race was at one mile and served as the feature, Parader being an outstanding choice. But Neddam did not lack for friends and had steady support. He began slowly from an outer position and had to race wide on the turns, but came fast and gamely through the stretch and overhauled Parader in the last twenty yards.

The early running was dominated by Crack o' Dawn, with Parader a close follower. On the stretch turn Parader, Crack o' Dawn and Neddam were on even terms, but only momentarily, for Parader began forging into the lead. He appeared the winner when an eighth out, but Neddam came swiftly and outstayed him. Orcus, which finished third and only a head behind Parader, ran a good race and with a better rider up probably would have won.

Louisiana Derby eligibles were given an opportunity in the fourth race, at a mile and seventy yards. It resulted in an easy victory for Chiva, which led for the entire race and won with all ease from the outsider Slanderer, with Irish Pat third. Prince of Umbria and Superbum, a pair that were backed to figure extensively in the race, got away badly and were unplaced.

PERFECT WEATHER PREVAILS.

Perfect weather was again present and the racing was witnessed by a large attendance. There was much betting activity. The wagering was general and not confined to one or two of the starters. Thirty-eight layers operated, an increase over yesterday.

May Bodine, making her first appearance in a long time, won after a hard drive in the third race, for which Orlova was the favorite. Archie Alexander was pressing the winner hard at the end and with a bit farther to go might have won. His showing this afternoon was a decided improvement over his race of several days ago, when favorite and ridden by Mein. Orlova flattered until the last sixteenth, when she began tiring.

Jockey L. Morris again figured in a losing race. He was on Deep Sinker in the final race and when approaching the first turn he took his mount up to last place and then came around. He was beaten by inches by Topmast and May Roberts. Topmast, under the inexperienced W. Reid, would not extend himself in the first half-mile, but through the last quarter came with a sensational rush and headed May Roberts in the last stride.

J. B. Cloher's Sandalwood surprised by leading for the entire distance in the second race and outstaying Feodor and Jago. Sandalwood returned to the stand bleeding slightly from the nostrils.

The opening race found twelve ordinary ones going to the post, with Glenlivet the choice, and under F. Smith's rousing ride he outfinished Spinning Flax. There was considerable support here for Spectator, but that horse got into a jam during the running and came out of the race with badly cut legs.

RIDING HONORS TO SMITH.

Jockey F. Smith carried off riding honors with a pair of victories and a second. He will be absent from the saddle for five days because of a suspension from the starter for disobedience at the post.

Steve Judge, who was in charge of the shipment of Prince Tii Tii and Bon Homme to Tijuana, arrived this morning. He reports the Tijuana meeting progressing well and improving. Judge will go to New York shortly, where he expects to train some horses this year.

S. Gooch shipped Stock Pin and Flying Devil to Bowie, where they will be rested until the meeting there opens.

C. R. Ellison departed this morning for Hot Springs, where he will remain for some time before going on to Louisville.

Logan Denny has taken Panasain over to train.

Otto Beumir is the latest of the bookmaking fraternity to depart. He went to New York this morning.

Louisiana Derby candidates were in the limelight this morning and were given trials for their coming starts in the $10,000 race to be run on the closing day, March 17. Shamrock, the mainstay of the T. W. O'Brien stable and possibly the post favorite, worked a mile and an eighth in 2:00, unextended. Edward Gray, another choice, worked his mile in 1:45⅘. Setting Sun showed the best

Here and There on the Turf

Canadian Racing in Danger.
Prospective Abandonment of Meetings.
Kentucky's New Starters.
Interest in Louisiana Derby.

There is a real prospect that racing in Canada will be seriously curtailed this year because of the excessive tax that has been levied on the sport. A statement that such might be the case was made by some of the associations last fall, after it was proved that a considerable loss had been sustained on the racing season. Now it comes again and unless there is relief from some part of the taxes it appears that there will be some serious lapses in the circuit on the other side of the Great Lakes.

Racing has thriven wonderfully in Canada, until now it plays a most important part in the turf affairs of this continent. This growth was directly responsible for the creation of the Canadian Breeding Bureau and the Canadian meetings have been a source of rich revenue to the country for a considerable time.

Some of the most glorious history of the turf on this continent can be written about Woodbine Park track at Toronto and the Ontario Jockey Club. It is this famous organization that has continuously kept alive the King's Plate, formerly run as the Queen's Plate, a race that was inaugurated in 1860.

This old race, as well as many others of the Canadian fixtures, are for native-bred horses, and such races have influenced the breeding of the best. No race in this or any other country means more to the Canadian sportsman than the King's Plate, and it has endured and was carried on without interruption right through the war time, when Canada was depleted of its men of fighting age. The Canadian turf gave up more to the war in men, money and horses than came from any other calling, but the continuance of the King's Plate was the patriotic thing to do, and it was continued. Fortunately, the Ontario Jockey Club will carry on regardless of what the other organizations may do.

Some thirty years ago the Ontario Jockey Club just about told the tale of racing in Canada, though there were some smaller meetings at Hamilton, Woodstock and some other points.

The success of the pioneers was negligible and many meetings were conducted at a loss, but they were continued. Then came the opening of Windsor, Fort Erie and some other courses. Finally Blue Bonnets came into being at Montreal and there was again an awakening, as American capital and American horses were attracted.

The Canadian turf continued to grow until there were eleven mile tracks that operated. All of this brought thoroughbreds from the United States. The quality of the racing was improved, by the improved quality of the horses, until the Canadian circuit has grown into one of the most important. This is the circuit that is so seriously menaced.

The appointment of William Snyder and William Hamilton as starters for the Kentucky circuit has been made. It was just what was expected after the deplored death of A. B. Dade and any other appointment would have been a surprise. Both of these starters have made good adequately through the winter racing at New Orleans and the fact that they work for one another adds greatly to the efficiency of each.

Considerable interest is being manifested in the coming Louisiana Derby at Jefferson Park and it will doubtless be a race of more importance than any ever staged before over that track. The three-year-olds on hand are close enough together in the matter of class to warrant the belief that it will be a good contest, but on paper they hardly measure up to real Derby caliber. The fact that they are not of a class, with a few exceptions, to be seriously considered in connection with either the Preakness Stakes or the Kentucky Derby does not detract anything from interest in the New Orleans race.

Twenty Years Ago Today

Chief Turf Events of March 7, 1903.

Racing at New Orleans and Oakland.

Telamon came right back fresh from his victory the other day and beat eight other horses in the Oakland Handicap, at one and one-quarter miles, the main race at New Orleans. Hildreth also had Major Tenny in this race and they were backed to the exclusion of all others. Telamon jumped into the lead at once and was pulled up to win by three lengths.

Jockeys are becoming so scarce at Memphis that several owners are trying to develop youngsters from the crop of stable and exercise boys. Young Arthur Robbins, brother of Walter Robbins, the crack lightweight now riding at New Orleans, is being taught the fine points of piloting a horse each day at Montgomery Park. He is under the tutelage of assistant trainer Walker, who has charge of James Arthur's string. Young Robbins hails from Chicago and, like his brother, shows a natural disposition to handle a horse. He is under contract to Mrs. Hazel Arthur for the coming season and will have his first mount soon. He can do eighty-five pounds and shows no inclination to take on weight.

The Waterhouse Cup, with $2,500 added, at two and a quarter miles, filled the New California Jockey Club's plant at Oakland to overflowing. Of the four horses that went to the post Siddons was the only sound and healthy horse in the quartet. Cunard broke down when it looked as though he had third money safely tucked away and finished last. Nones, which finished second, was sore and in bad condition before the race, labored almost from the start, going very dicky, but ran a game race in spite of the fact that he appeared to have fallen lame at the end of the first mile. Colonel Ballantyne also went lame after the start, but finished out the journey and outstayed Cunard in the last fifty yards to gain third money. The winner, Siddons, simply cantered the entire distance.

Jockey Buchanan asked for a hearing in his case and the hearing took place last Wednesday at New Orleans. Questioned by the stewards as to several of his rides Buchanan would not admit there was anything wrong with them. He said that he knew he had been riding in bad form. He laid the defeat of Telamon to riding instructions given by Hildreth, but Hildreth, when questioned, denied that he had given any instructions. Buchanan had every opportunity to make explanations. That he did not have anything to say that was of any satisfactory nature may be taken to mean that the stewards will be in no hurry to reinstate him, even if they reinstate him at all. The stewards also questioned Buchanan about running around at nights while riding there. Hildreth intimated that he thought the jockey erred in not making a clean breast of matters to the stewards. Buchanan's case appears to be in about the same position as it was before. He is indefinitely suspended and will not be admitted to the track.

Art Work on the Australian Horse

(BY SALVATOR.)

The only possible criticism that could be offered of Mr. Vosburgh's recently published "Racing in America" was that the illustrations were not of the same admirable quality as the text. They were profuse, not to say elaborate, and some of them were excellent, but in other cases they were unsatisfactory. I have lately received another volume, however, which is the most beautifully illustrated one devoted to the thoroughbred that has yet come to my attention. It is entitled "Race Horses in Australia," with the sub-title "With Paintings by Martin Stainforth," the text being provided by several different collaborators. The publication is due to Art in Australia, Ltd., a firm which also publishes an art magazine of the same name.

The feature of this very handsome volume is a series of twenty-four exquisite color plates, reproductions of paintings of great Australian thoroughbreds, by the late Martin Stainforth. As a rule I do not become enthusiastic over paintings of thoroughbreds, nor reproductions thereof. In most instances the paintings themselves make no appeal to me, either as portraits or works of art, while the reproductions are usually futilities. But, while I have never had the good fortune to behold in the flesh a single one of the horses portrayed by Stainforth, merely from studying the reproductions in this book I would rank him as the most accomplished and interesting horse portraitist of his time—a true master. His original canvases must be things of rare beauty and true art works. He contrives to give to each of his subjects that rare quality, an individuality different from all the others. The drawing is admirable, as a general thing. The color is beautiful. The composition and "handling" are technically expert, and the rendering of equine character intimate and expressive.

PLATES ARE ARTISTIC.

All these things are faithfully brought out in the reproductions. These were made under the superintendence of Harry Julius, and the letter press informs the reader that many of the plates were re-made again and again before thoroughly satisfactory ones were obtained. But the results are worthy of such care and pains. Each plate is separately printed and mounted upon a page of the book, leaving the ample margin necessary for an artistic setting. Each one has a gemlike, glowing effect, that charms the eye. Everywhere is apparent the earnest effort of the artist to achieve truth to nature and to portray it with every resource at his command. The success attained is, as I have stated, beyond anything else of the kind that has yet come to my notice.

The frontispiece, a thing of striking and noble beauty, is a head and neck of the great stayer Trafalgar. The other plates are as follows: Musket, Carbine, Trenton, Cross Battery; the finish, V. B. C. Flying Stakes, 1902; Malster, Wallace, Lanius, Linacre, Yippingale, Trafalgar (full figure), Brattle, Poitrel, Gloaming, Artilleryman; Triptych (showing Cross Battery with Artilleryman at foot, Comedy King and Artilleryman); Cetigne, Kennaquhair, Comedy King, Woorak, Panacre, Eurythmic, and the finish for the A. J. C. Craven Plate, 1918.

In addition, a number of black-and-white plates reproduce other paintings by the artist, together with photos and old prints of early Australian "cracks," and views of the principal Australian race courses of the present day. The text, which is contributed by Dr. W. H. Lang, Dr. Stewart McKay and Messrs. Ken Austin and Frank Wilkinson ("Martindale") includes essays on "Race Horses in Australia," a valuable historical article, by Dr. Lang; an appreciation of Martin Stainforth, as man and painter, by Dr. McKay; "The Secret of Staying Power," a very interesting discussion of this much mooted subject, also by Dr. McKay; "The A. J. C. and Randwick," by Mr. Austin; "The V. R. C. and Flemington," by Dr. Lang; on the studs of Australia, by Mr. Austin, and "Famous Race Horses," by Mr. Wilkinson.

The volume is a fine piece of book production in all respects and the publishers, as well as the turf devotees of Australia, may well feel proud of it and the manner in which it displays to the world their home horses and racing sport. The only sad feature is the fact that during the course of production Martin Stainforth was taken away by death, not living to see the publication of a book that should make him famous as a horse painter in all parts of the world. In this respect there is a strang parallel between his case and that of Bruce Lowe, the Australian author of the "Figure System," who also died before the publication of his work.

Stainforth, however, was not, like Lowe, a native of Australia. He was an Englishman, who did not go to Australia until 1909. He had served a thorough artistic apprenticeship in the mother country, but did not really "find himself" until he reached the Antipodes. He was a man with a highly trained eye and hand, an expert knowledge of the anatomy and habits of the horse and the ability to depict truth and beauty without sacrificing either the one or the other to a false idealism—the curse of the vast majority of efforts in horse portraiture. He made careful sketches from the life, also used the camera's aid, neglecting nothing that would enable him to attain realism and disclose personality and individuality.

His efforts are not, however, faultless. To the writer's eye there are some details of some of his paintings in which he was not so successful as in others. But in the best of them there seems practically nothing to criticize. They are simply superb. What would not one give for a similar "gallery" of portraits of America's great racers! Some of these reproductions are from paintings which Stainforth executed expressly for this volume, others from those done by him in past years. The mighty Carbine is shown as a six-year-old—a picture of extreme interest; Trenton at fourteen, Malster at twenty-three, etc. Nothing could be happier than the studies of mares and foals, which have a feeling and atmosphere that strike home to any man who has, like the writer, spent some of the pleasantest hours of his life in the paddock and pasture among embryo racers and their mothers, "en famille."

CALLS DICKEY TO MIND.

In many respects the work of Stainforth reminds me of that of the American artist Robert L. Dickey. As a draughtsman I think Dickey fully the equal, in some ways perhaps even the superior, of Stainforth. His faculty of catching the different individualities of different horses—all the large and salient characters not only, but the small and usually overlooked ones as well—is not less than the Australian master's, while his faculty of composition and technique is just as able.

But Dickey, with all his rare gifts, found American owners so unappreciative of his work that he abandoned it and turned to magazine illustration and cartooning, specializing in animals, more partic

LORD CLIFDEN'S ST. LEGER

Incidents in the Brief Turf Career of Lord St. Vincent.

Scenes Attendant Upon Running of English Classic in 1863, When Osborne Rode Nobleman's Horse to Victory.

It was in 1863, writes J. B. Radcliffe in his "Life and Times of John Osborne," that Osborne rode his first St. Leger winner, Lord St. Vincent's' Lord Clifden, his victory being one of the most sensational in its incidents of any race for the Doncaster "Sellinger" in the long annals of the greatest of the three classic contests.

One of the most prominent examples of Lord St. Vincent's pluck during his brief turf career was his purchase of Lord Clifden, which, as a two-year-old had been so highly tried that 20 to 1 was asked about him for the Derby before he ran for the Woodcote. The colt was the property of Mr. Hind, a wine and spirit merchant living at Ashton-under-Lyne, Staffordshire. Edwin Parr, the trainer, and Mr. Holmes, an Irish gentleman, were the ambassadors to effect the purchase, and the sum asked was five thousand pounds down and two thousand more if he won the Derby. The terms were at once closed with, and at half past eleven o'clock that same night of the conference the future hero of the St. Leger was in his new quarters at Godmersham.

LORD ST. VINCENT UNLUCKY.

That Lord St. Vincent was a spirited buyer more cases could be cited, but disappointment, grievous disappointment, invariably followed his outlays. Though successful in the St. Leger with Lord Clifden, Hidalgo and Duenna could never be trained; and Lady Stafford, which he bought of Mr. Hind for 2,000 guineas about the same time that he secured Lord Clifden, was a failure. He also gave an Irish breeder 750 guineas for Bellman, which never won a race; and as Zetland, which he purchased of old John Osborne for 3,000 guineas specially to win the Goodwood Cup, was beaten by his own nomination, Tim Whiffler and The Orphan died from tetanus, it may be said that Lord St. Vincent had more of Fortune's buffets than her rewards.

Lord Clifden's terrific finish with Marconi in the Derby will ever be memorable. The judge said the only difference between them at the finish was that Lord St. Vincent's colt's head was down and Marconi's up as they flashed past the post. Lord Clifden's equivocal market position before the Derby led to the supposition that he was not sound. The real facts of the case were that the colt occasionally shows signs of lameness, attributed to a fall at exercise when he slipped up. These symptoms did not reappear after his sensational finish for the Derby, and his trainer, Edwin Parr, gave him a rattling and uninterrupted preparation. A new course was made at Telscombe under the hill, and in this isolated spot, which was unknown and inaccessible to the touts, Lord Clifden did such rousing gallops from day to day that he stumped up the 3,000 guineas purchase, Zetland, Necromancer and Charles Fox.

LORD CLIFDEN CRITICISED.

Lord Clifden was sent in advance to Doncaster the Saturday before the St. Leger. Quoting from the "Van Driver," in Baily's Magazine, "Nothing," he writes, "could be more diverse than the ideas formed of him the next morning when he appeared on the course. According to strict Doncaster etiquette he should have gone a splitter round the course whether it was as hard as asphalt or as deep in lime. And not having complied with the usual precedent, a renewal of the hostilities in the ring took place, which a quiet canter on Monday did not cause to abate.

"Tuesday morning being rumored to be dress rehearsal, the critics were in great force, but except from the two 'Johns' (Osbornes), there was no applause, and he was rather damned with faint praise than commended as he ought to have been. 'No horse could take that gallop that had not been trained,' was the remark of Captain White to John Scott, as he went up to the Whitehall brougham, which stood as usual at the bend where the jockeys pull up. 'Yes, you are right; I'm afraid I cannot best him, and I would just as soon he had been left at home,' was the reply of the veteran St. Leger trainer. But although his opinion became known, and the captain was summoned to a medical survey in the stable afterward, no one would have the horse, and no reason could be assigned for it with any good cause.

'I do not like thee, Doctor Fell,
The reason why I cannot tell.'

"All concerned in him were nervous save 'Lord Frederic,' who enjoyed the confusion and surveyed the battlefield and the bringing up of the reserves with the calmness of a Clyde. 'We know he's well trained and will be well ridden; and what more do we want? 'Why, only to collar the stuff afterwards,' was all that could be extracted from him; and Johnnie Osborne, passing him at the time he was speaking, he added, 'That lad rides the winner of the Ledger.' 'Mine is a good mare, but not a smasher,' was what John Scott said of Queen Bertha.

"The St. Ledger Day," continues the chronicler of the turf events of the period, "fairly beat us, and accustomed as we are to the profanum vulgus, the hordes of Lancashire and Yorkshire were too many for us. And as if the 'flies' were not sufficiently dangerous in the streets in the high tide of the morning, a menagerie made its appearance with elephants and camels in advance, and no less than seventeen lions and caravans in the rear. For a time all circulation was suspended as the mob flocked round the beasts like boys round a sweet-stuff woman.

GOOD HUMOR OF CROWD.

"And yet this vast mass of human beings was as tractable as children and fell into their places in the most good-humored manner, having no other thought than the St. Leger. When the bell rang for it the sensation it produced was overwhelming, although it was a relief to some to think that the excitement would soon be at an end and the worst known.

"All candidates finished their preliminaries well, with the exception of Donnybrook, which was anything but Donnybrook Fair, but, as was Surplice, West Australian and the Flying Dutchman, Lord Clifden towered high above the others and, in fact, advertised himself. The scene at that moment was indeed a striking one and such as no other country could produce. On the Moor the masses of England were packed like bees in a hive, and on the roof of the stand the proudest patricians were established. All were pervaded with one idea, and their curiosity was soon set at rest.

"Fearful of being hemmed in, John Osborne had taken up a position which prevented any fear of collision, but left him at enormous disadvantage, for, when the flag fell, he was quite away from his company, and as Bluemantle and Lee Boo took them along at a cut-throat pace, the long stern chase of Lord Childen seemed perfectly hopeless, and he really seemed to be beaten farther and farther every stride he went.

OWNER AND TRAINER WORRIED.

"To the ring nothing could be more welcome than this intelligence, but to Lord St. Vincent and his trainer the torture was almost insupportable. 'All is lost now,' was the refrain of their song, as going over the hill he was 150 yards from the leading horses. By the time, however, they had reached the 'flat' there was a more favorable change, for now Lord Clifden was not the last, but the last but two. It was then for the first time that Osborne found that he had a Great Eastern under him, and calling on his mount he went through the lot one after another until he had overhauled Queen Bertha.

"The race between them was not long, but decisive, and amidst an amount of excitement unsurpassed since Voltigeur's year 'Johnnie' landed his mount winner. The scene that followed beggared description and the carrying of 'Johnnie' into the weighing room by the mob will never be forgotten, nor the struggle with the policemen which Edwin Parr had before he could be permitted to see him in the scale.

"Of the cheering, the champagne, the congratulations, objurgations and maledictions that followed we need only say a word, as they are the accompaniments of every St. Leger, but they have never been exceeded in our time, and the whole tableau rendered the Lord Clifden Leger Day the most memorable in the annals of Doncaster."

HEWITT ESTABLISHMENT PAID

Breeding and Racing Ventures of Late Buffalo Turfman Profitable.

LEXINGTON, Ky., March 6.—John I. Smith, trainer-manager of the thoroughbreds belonging to the estate of the late Herbert H. Hewitt of Buffalo and which are to be sold here Thursday, March 22, under the auspices of the Kentucky Sales Company, left last night for Buffalo to see the executors of the estate relative to the closing out of the forty-six horses, which to him are as so many children, for all, with the exception of the mares Coy Maid, Aviston, Inspiration and Run of Luck, were bred by him for his deceased employer.

Smith began his connection with and served for Mr. Hewitt thirteen years ago. With four mares costing $3,000 Smith entered upon a racing and breeding venture that was so eminently successful that what the estate will realize out of the sale can, he says, be counted as profit.

"I have heard it stated that Mr. Hewitt's racing and breeding fun cost him a quarter of a million dollars," said Smith, "but not in my time. My connection with him was harmonious and successful. I haven't any books to refer to as to maintenance and income, because each year the affairs were closed up and transactions completed, but as I know the run of affairs the forty-six horses in my hands at Mr. Hewitt's death stood him clear."

Smith declined to state his views or what the horses will bring at the auction, but the consensus of opinion hereabouts is that they should, judging by the market last fall, average around $3,000, perhaps $3,500.

Feylance is in more forward condition than Spanish Maize, or, indeed, any other of the Ross aggregation. He earned the expenses incident to the shipping of the Ross stable from Maryland when he won his first purse late in December. He defeated Abadane, Dr. Johnson, John S. Reardon and some other horses in a dash of three-quarters.

Feylance is a New York bred colt, a son of Assagai (he a son of the renowned long-distance runner Spearmint, winner of the Epsom Derby and the Grand Prix de Paris), and St. Fey. He came from Willis Sharpe Kilmer's Sunbriar Court Stud at Binghamton and cost Commander Ross $6,000 at the auction block. His mother is a daughter of St. Frusquin, of the family of the celebrated Hourless. On both sides of his house Feylance is bred for long-distance running. He ought to go on himself. In his winning race of January he ran from behind Krewer, Serapis, Ten Buttons and Motor Cop. He had plenty to spare at the finish and was going away.

McDaniel would just as soon J. B. McKee had not brought the formidable Bon Homme this way from New Orleans. He concedes the merit of the son of Sweep and Sue Smith and realizes that training Bon Homme for a gallop at a speed of one mile and a quarter toward the end of next month will be difficult. But he is not without hope. Bon Homme will have to give weight to Feylance, Rebuke and Spanish Maize in the Coffroth Handicap. Weight brings all horses together.

WHITNEY NAME IN ART

The name of Harry Payne Whitney is widely and prominently known in financial and social circles, as well as among the admirers of the thoroughbred horse, both from a breeding and racing standpoint, not only in this country but in England and France as well. But it does not stop there, for Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney carries it into the field of art, not merely as a patroness but as a sculptress.

A retrospective exhibition of the sculpture of Mrs. Harry Fayne Whitney, known professionally as Gertrude V. Whitney, has opened at the Art Institute here in Chicago and continues until the middle of April. The display represents twenty years of hard work and sincere effort by a most ambitious artist. In these times, when most of those with artistic ambitions from the ranks of "the four hundred" lack the stamina to realize their goal, Mrs. Whitney is the shining example of the exception to the rule. She seems to upset that old theory that an attic and a crust make the real artist.

BAD AUSTRALIAN BLUNDER

Stewards of Rosehill Meeting in Misinterpretation of Rules.

Allow Placing to Stand After Rider of Winner Returns to Jockey Room Before Weighing In—Many Protests.

SYDNEY, N. S. W., Australia, February, 1.—After Lion Isle had won the first division of the Parramatta mile at Rosehill on December 9 last his backers went to their respective bookmakers to collect. Some were paid right away, but the more cautious books waited for the weight flag to go up, and when it did not go up in a few minutes it was realized that something was seriously amiss. As the protest flag was not hoisted punters and bookmakers alike were mystified and betting on the next race was almost suspended.

Lion Isle's rider, J. Toohey, was responsible for the sensation, as when he returned to the inclosure on that horse instead of immediately going to the scales to be weighed in he went to the jockeys' room, which is near by, and threw his saddle and gear down. For a few moments it was not realized that he had not weighed in, but when it suddenly dawned on those responsible a rush was made for the jockeys' room and Toohey was found sitting down resting. Toohey was asked why he had not weighed in and, suddenly remembering his duty, he gathered together his saddle and gear and went on to the scales and weighed in correctly.

ORDERS WEIGHT FLAG HOISTED.

The stewards, as soon as Toohey had been weighed in correctly, deliberated and after a short discussion Abel Hyde gave instructions to an official to hoist the weight flag. However, J. W. Cook, the trainer of the second horse, requested Mr. Hyde to delay the hoisting of the flag, as he wished to appeal against the stewards' decision. Mr. Hyde disregarded Cook's request and the flag was hoisted and the bookmakers paid on Lion Isle.

The attitude taken by Mr. Hyde is extraordinary, as Cook had every right to appeal against the decision of the stewards to the committee of the Australian Jockey Club, and for the chairman of the stipendiary stewards to refuse to accept Cook's appeal is against the fundamental principles of the rules under which racing is conducted.

The Australian rules of racing are most definite in regard to weighing in, and are as follows:

"When a race has been run every jockey or rider must, immediately after pulling up, ride his horse to the place of weighing and there dismount when told by the judge or a steward, and not before, and be weighed to the satisfaction of the judge or steward. If he dismount before he is told to do so he may be fined or suspended from riding at the discretion of the stewards, and the horse he rode may be disqualified for that race. Provided, that if a jockey or rider be prevented from riding to the place of weighing by accident or illness, by which he or his horse is disabled, or by reason of any other cause which in the opinion of the stewards is sufficient he may walk or be carried to the scales.

MANDATORY DISQUALIFICATION.

"If a jockey or rider do not weigh in, or be short of weight, or be, in the opinion of the stewards, guilty of any fraudulent practice with respect to weight or weighing, the horse he rode is disqualified for that race, and the jockey or rider may be punished at the discretion of the stewards.

"If a jockey or rider touch (except accidentally) any person or thing, other than his own equipment, after starting and before weighing in, he may be fined or suspended from riding at the discretion of the stewards, and the horse he rode may be disqualified for that race, unless he can satisfy the stewards that he was justified by extraordinary circumstances. Provided, that any portion of his equipments he may have dropped after the passing of the winning-post may be handed to him by the clerk of the course."

From the above rules it will be seen that Lion Isle was indeed fortunate to be awarded the race, as Toohey not only broke the first and second rules quoted by failing to weigh in immediately, but also the third, as, by going into the jockeys' room and sitting down, he certainly touched other things than his own qeuipment.

TOOHEY'S LONG SUSPENSION.

Toohey's lapse was possibly due to being worried by the inquiry into the fall of Tressnel in the December Handicap. He rode David in that race and the stewards decided that Toohey crossed too quickly on that horse and suspended him for three months; but their decision had not been communicated to him prior to his going out on Lion Isle. However, just as he was unsaddling Lion Isle he was requested to go to the stewards' room. This probably upset him, and as he had been wasting during the week his lapse is perfectly understandable.

Not only have the stewards been severely criticized by racing men, but the judge has also come in for a fair share, as it is argued that he is responsible for the dismounting of the horses, and to see that the jockeys walk straight to the scales, and are not touched, hindered or given anything by persons who may be in the weighing inclosure.

Truly, it is a sad state of affairs when a jockey who has ridden a winner can dismount and retire to the partial seclusion of the jockeys' room without being reminded that his presence is needed on the scales.

A racing man who had a fair bet about Tulyrush, told me yesterday that he is far from satisfied with the decision of the stewards, and intends taking further action in the courts.
